

HIKING TO BUKIT LOGONG

Bukit Lagong, standing at 572m near Kuala Lumpur, offers stunning city views and a challenging hike, no permit needed! The trail from CP3 (493m) is raw, with fallen logs and branches making navigation tough.

Thanks to previous hikers for marking the way! Recently, Bukit Lagong has faced negative press due to plans for housing development and quarrying in the forest reserve, a vital water catchment area for city dwellers and orang asli settlements. How can we ensure no pollution and preserve this area? Please sign the petition to support preservation.

Fun fact: FRIM is working towards UNESCO World Heritage Site recognition, with its nomination accepted in 2017.
