SYNOPSIS

American Air Filter Manufacturing Sdn Bhd (AAFM), a leading provider of air filtration solutions in Malaysia, specializes in the design, manufacture, and supply of high-quality air filters for a variety of applications. With a commitment to improving indoor air quality, the company offers a comprehensive range of products, including HVAC filters, cleanroom solutions, and industrial filtration systems.

Air filters are crucial in HVAC systems, improving indoor air quality by trapping dust and particles. They enhance system efficiency, reduce energy costs, and extend equipment life by preventing debris buildup. Effective filtration also ensures consistent temperature control and occupant comfort, making air filters essential for maintaining optimal HVAC performance.

AAF air filters meet and exceed international standards such as ASHRAE 52.2, ISO 16890, EN779, and EN1822. This ensures superior performance, capturing a wide range of airborne particles and providing excellent indoor air quality. Our commitment to quality guarantees efficient HVAC system operation and longevity, delivering consistent and reliable performance globally.
